  One of the most divine experiences you can have in Rishikesh besides indulging in meditation and yoga sessions is experiencing the magnificent Evening aarti at Triveni Ghat. This is undoubtedly something you don't wanna miss out on. In fact, we are sure you'll come back every evening. The Ghat packs hundreds and thousands of locals and tourists every evening who flock together to watch the mesmerizing "Sandhyaarti". The ambience that you see cannot be found elsewhere in India. Experiencing an Aarti at Triveni Ghat is on the basket list of many travellers who come to India wanting to explore the local culture. You can also take part in it by offering some "flowers" or "diya" to the holy Ganga.

- Ram Jhula-

An experience you can have, at the majestic Ram Jhula (Hindi word for 'swing'), a famous hanging bridge located in the heart of Rishikesh. This iconic bridge is named after Lord Rama, one of the most important gods in Hindu mythology. Spanning 450 feet, it connects the two banks of the Ganga creating a serene passage for pedestrians. While you can't drive a four-wheeler on the bridge, cycles, and two-wheelers are allowed on it. As you cross the bridge, you will be treated to panoramic views of the river below, the lush hillsides, and the myriad temples dotting the riverbanks.

- Go River Rafting-

 height="450">

River rafting through the pristine waters of Rishikesh flowing through the foothills of the Himalayas is really worth experiencing once. There are two kinds of river rafting experiences that you can look for - one which is a bit more fast-paced and adventurous and the other one which is more slow-paced so that you can enjoy nature, flowing steadily through the cool breeze. Although it depends from person to person, soft rafting is mostly recommended as the water current is less strong to cause any fatalities and overall it is an amazing experience. Most hotels and resorts have arrangements for rafting packages.

- Catch A Sunrise At The Kunjapuri Devi Mandir Temple

Getting to experience a blissful sunrise in the spiritual capital of India cannot be anything less than a blessing! Most hotels and resorts have arrangements to reach the temple which is at a higher altitude with a concrete platform where people gather to catch sunrise before 4 AM in the morning. If the sky is clear, you are bound to get some gorgeous glimpses of the sunrise. Afterwards, you can climb down and visit the temple for a quick prayer and indulge in some authentic Indian food on your way back.

- Trekking To Neergarh Waterfall

 width="700">

Another hidden gem of Rishikesh although not so hidden anymore, the place is nothing short of mesmerizing. The trio of waterfall is located on the road down from the Kunjapuri Devi Temple and is a sight to experience. You can either trek to the location from the temple or easily catch a ride from the city. Entry to the waterfall is free and it takes approximately 1.5 hours from the city to trek there. If you want to rent a scooty, it costs an average of 300 INR a day.
